

Think about your biggest sales achievement to date. It may be your largest sale or even a small sale that was particularly challenging.

Identify what, specifically, you did that made this your biggest sales achievement and what effect these efforts had on the customer.

What three qualities will I draw upon when faced with challenges?

Notes